Editor's Note 2020

Dear Readers,

I feel pride to give you a few bits of knowledge about the Journal, Clinical Psychiatry. It is one of the effectively running Journal in an open access field. The Journal consistently endeavors to bring to the forefront, the frontiers in the industry with significant spotlight on the flow happenings and research patterns.

With the staggering help of the editors, reviewers and contributing writers, the Journal has released few issues of articles since the year 2015 to till date. At present, we are in the 6th volume and we had incorporated great number of articles for issue discharges. Clinical Psychiatry is an Open Access Journal that has been a leading source for peer-looked into articles offering the most recent data on psychological wellness subjects to therapists and other clinical experts which releases issue quarterly.

This year, we are planning to release few special issues articles on special topics such as Depression, Bipolar disorder, Schizophrenia, Anxiety, Addiction, Premenstrual dysphonic disorder and Attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder and many more in order to motivate and encourage authors to come up with their innovative research ideas. Journals gives importance to the quality articles, all the articles are subjected to peer review process.

I take this opportunity to recognize the commitment of Dr. Roberto Maniglio, Dr. Tanjir Rashid Soron, Dr Yoshiaki Kikuchi, Dr. Chua Tze-Ern, Dr. Ishaan Gosai and Dr. Ahmad Rayan so on who consistently been dynamic members during the publication process, supervising the peer review process, contributing articles to the journal regular issues and also their significant proposals for the smooth functioning of the journal, the support rendered by the publication right hand, in bringing out issues.

We generally anticipate work with a lot increasingly young researchers over the globe.

Regards

Chua Tze-Ern
